
Then said Howlegl
lesse cost. Then sayd me that cunning and you wyll haue, The
depart from hence,
learne you that scie
he into the stable an ue and so departed
his hostes that scie Thow howlegias
were in the hospit Vpon a time ho
and he set vpo Guilde hall, a
in that towne migh
ster of Phisicke, T
And then the maist ster of our Lord is then went the mai & asked him if he co
and make them wh
his owne pleasure,
maister of the hosp
dens, and I shall re sikenes, & deases, a sicke persons be de
wordes pleased th
And he gane him s morowe after came
men after him, & th
the other, what de asked them all the

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Hamlet (STC 22279) LONDON, 1637 THE BODLEIAN LIBRARY (4